

How Wonderful the Patented Super-Six Principle. It is responsible for the largest selling 6-cylinder cars in the world. After ten successful years, the patented exclusive Super-Six principle to-day is responsible for Hudson-Essex being the largest selling 6-cylinder cars in the world. How amazing this supremacy to endure so long. New cars, types, and designs succeed each other at breathless rate. Yet, year after year, the Hudson Super-Six with its unchanged patented principle remains the largest selling fine car in the world.

HANKOW RIFT.

The Nationalist Split Grows.

EXTREMISTS IN CONTROL?

The following wireless messages have been received by the local naval authorities:—
The situation remains unchanged at Ichang.
The Ichang Labour Union have answered the letter sent in reply to their demands following the clash between Bluejackets and stevedores on the s.s. "Tung Wo," reducing their demands.
Large demonstrations in memory of the second anniversary of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen's death have been arranged for to-day (Saturday).
According to a message from Hankow, the split between the Moderates and Extremists of the Nationalist party there has left the Extremists in control.
To-day will be observed in Hankow as a Sun Yat-sen Memorial holiday.
Troop movements downriver continue.
Business has been resumed at Wuhu and the Customs have temporarily opened.
There appear to be no anti-foreign demonstrations or feeling in evidence at Wuhu and the local authorities have "taken action" in the matter of looters.
Demonstrations in observance of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen's death are being arranged for to-day.
Anhui troops are being replaced by Cantonese and the fourth Army has proceeded to the North Bank of the river.
Chen Tso-yung has proceeded to Kiukiang.
Troops and stores continue to be moved across the river at Nanking, and at Kiukiang troops are crossing to the North Bank of the river.

EARLIER MESSAGES.

The Coldstream Guards in Shanghai.
Shanghai, March 11.
Pouring rain greeted the Coldstream Guards when the Second Battalion landed on Chinese soil for the first time this afternoon, and headed by their band, marched five miles to where billets had been prepared at Jessfield Park.
Admiral Tyrwhitt, accompanied by General Duncan, took the salute at the entrance to the British Consulate, where British subjects mostly concentrated, and as the Coldstream Guards swung along through the rain, they were welcomed by rousing cheers by their countrymen.
The fine physique of the burly Guardsmen evoked general admiration of the mixed crowd of Chinese and foreigners, which lined the Bund and Nanking Road. The men were in the pink of condition and cheerful. They will constitute a most useful addition to the Defence Force.—Reuter.

YARN AND CLOTH.

HOW TRADE SHOWS BIG IMPROVEMENT.

PROBLEM OF COMPETITION.

London, March 11.
Presiding at the annual meeting of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners Association at Manchester, Mr. Fred Holroyd said that 1927 had seen a very considerable return to the trade in yarn and cloth, but prices were not quite satisfactory.
The continuance of such trade would soon see the mills and weaving sheds full. Production portents for the future were very bright.
The Federation strongly opposed ratification of the Washington convention for forty-eight hours and held the opinion that even if competitors ratified it, it would probably be conditional on the right under special circumstances to work longer hours which would not be permitted in Britain.
Citing a week's figures showing that America consumed four times as much American cotton as England, while Japan, Germany and France each consumed more than half the quantity used in England, the speaker declared that it was beyond comprehension how people in the trade could contend there was no competition to fear.—Reuter.

POSTERS SEIZED.

Police Action on S.S. "Fatshan."

CREW REFUSE TO SAIL.

Two posters with Chinese written characters were removed by the Police this morning from the s.s. "Fatshan" (owned by the China Navigation Co., Ltd.) when she was alongside the Steamboat Co.'s wharf. The native crew refused to sail until the posters were returned to them.
On the 'tween deck amidships were about ten posters of the type now prominently displayed at every street corner in Canton. They had been put up for the second anniversary of the death of Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Most of them referred to the late Dr. Sun's principles, or to the so-called claims of Labour. One of them, broadly translated, said: "The three great principles—an alliance with Russia, an alliance with Communism, the triumph of Labour." These posters were not seized. The two posters seized were of a very different character.
No Untoward Incident.
Police officers on wharf duty drew attention to the posters prior to 8 a.m., the hour when the ship was to sail.
The branch of the Seamen's Union on the "Fatshan" also held a meeting on the lower deck.
Reinforcements arrived from Police headquarters under Mr. T. H. King (Director of Criminal Intelligence), Mr. L. H. V. Booth (A.S.P.) and Chief Detective Inspector T. Murphy, who were accompanied by Mr. R. A. C. North, chief assistant to the Secretary for Chinese Affairs.
There was no untoward incident nor was any arrest made. The crew announced that they would not work for the ship's departure until the two posters were handed back to them. Some of the passengers got off the boat but the majority and the cargo remain aboard.

A NEW ERA.

RADIOPHONE DIPLOMATIC INTERCOURSE.

LONDON TALKS WITH CUBA.

London, March 11.
A new era in diplomatic relationship was inaugurated to-day when the Cuban Foreign Minister at Havana conversed with Mr. G. Locker Lampson, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, at the Foreign Office, London, over the wireless telephone, inaugurating telephonic communication between London and Latin America.
Mr. Locker Lampson, acknowledging the Cuban Minister's message, said this wonderful development of wireless telephony could not fail to bring Cuba and Britain closer.—Reuter.
Ministers Converse.
Rugby, March 11.
Public telephone communication by wireless between London and Havana, Cuba, was inaugurated to-day.
The first conversation took place between the Cuban Secretary of State and Mr. G. Locker Lampson, British Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.
In warmly reciprocating the good wishes conveyed by the Secretary of State from the President and Government of Cuba, Mr. Locker Lampson said the development of wireless telephony could not fail to bring Cuba and Britain nearer together, and to strengthen the mutual friendship between the two countries which had many interests in common.
The Cuban Minister in London, was present, and conversed with the British Minister in Cuba.—British Wireless Service.

NATIONALIST SPLIT.

Chang Kai-shek Still Supreme.

CHINA'S SOLDIER OF THE HOUR.

[By "Li Chung-yin"]
Will the opposing factions in the Chinese Nationalist Party break out into open strife?
Such a question must be engaging the attention of all connected with the present civil war in China. Marshal Chang Tso-lin and his supporters in the North are bound to be following developments very closely, and his clique may even be in negotiation with one or other of those who count in the Cantonese councils.
Be that as it may, it is difficult to realise how any section of the Kuomintang, political or military or labour, or a combination of all three, can challenge the power of General Chang Kai-shek, who is Commander-in-Chief both in name and fact.
Names Mean Little.
Names applied to the various sub-parties are apt to be misleading. Military and political, left and right, moderates and extremists have all been used. Strictly, it is incorrect to say that there is one party in direct opposition to another.
At one time, the term "Right" (meaning Moderates) and "Left" (meaning Extremists, or those whose purposes were best suited by working with Soviet Russia) generally covered the political differences of Canton's leaders.
To-day the question of Communism is not paramount. Both sides are still ready to make use of the Russians without committing themselves too far. And in this may lie the underlying reason why China (or Southern China) is unlikely to embrace Bolshevism.
Moscow's Part.
The leaders want to be leaders themselves. Subservience to Borodin would mean loss of authority; but in party intrigue and in a struggle against the North any help is welcome.
There are indications at present that Moscow is not prepared to go as far as she has done in the past. Nevertheless, propaganda and other methods are being kept up.
In putting Kwangtung province on her feet preparatory to setting out on the invasion of Central China, General Chang Kai-shek spared neither colleague nor partisan to achieve his object.
Man of Action.
His declaration of supreme loyalty to the Kuomintang (as broadcast by a Nationalist Agency) reminds one of his former actions. His famous "resolutions," which were accepted by the highest council without quibble, stripped the Communist elements of many privileges. Before that he had curbed the Moderates in no uncertain manner.
Chang Kai-shek's policy has been to use, wherever possible, his own men so that the highest efficiency can be attained. He is not definitely opposed to politicians and labour leaders merely because they are such. Should any stand in the way of Nationalist progress, he sets about to have them removed from office. And his interpretation of progress for the party is not necessarily acceptable to others.
Tide of Dissatisfaction.
Rumours have always been current that a tide of dissatisfaction had set in in Hupei province, in which is Hankow and other important cities.
General Tang Seng-chi, commanding the 8th Nationalist Army, is the "strong man" there. Viewing matters materially, it was his bid for the control of Hupei province which led to the war between Canton and Wu Peifu. His strength having grown extensively, he is said to resent alleged high-handed action by the Commander-in-Chief.
The fact of General Chang Kai-shek staying in Kiangsi province, instead of being more often at the seat of government (Hankow and Wuchang) is pointed to as evidence of disagreement between him and those in power.
Covering Power.
Some time ago, the leaders at Canton looked overland to set up a new organisation at Wuchang. A few never reached their destination, staying at Nanchang instead.

BRITON'S RIGHTS.

Free To Think What He Likes.

THE LAW AND IDEAS.

Rugby, March 11.
The House of Commons devoted itself to-day to a debate on a private Bill introduced by Captain Holt (Conservative) to prevent seditious and blasphemous teaching in schools.
Captain Holt referred especially to the teaching in certain Sunday schools, where he said proletarian children were organised for the spread of Communism.
Labour members combated the idea that there was any need for such a Bill. It was pointed out that the Home Secretary himself had stated that Communism was not illegal, and it was argued that any case of teaching sedition or blasphemy could be dealt with under the present law.
The Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson Hicks, declared that Socialism, as conducted by the Labour Party, was perfectly legal. He had no hesitation in saying that a Socialist Sunday school was an absolutely legal method of Socialist propaganda.
Anyone in the country could hold what views he liked as to the desirability of changing the constitution or as to the truth or otherwise of Christian religion. That was not sedition or blasphemy.
What they had to find out was where the dividing line came between the holding of ideas with regard to Communism or Christianity which were perfectly legal and the propagation of those ideas in a certain manner which might become illegal.
The present Bill aimed at making what was actually sedition or blasphemy a matter for summary jurisdiction instead of being dealt with by the cumbersome method of indictment.
He thought the Government had come to a right decision to allow a free vote of the House. The second reading of the Bill was carried by 218 votes to 35.—British Wireless Service.

Did they anticipate difficulties with the men on the spot? Only they themselves can say, and they have been purposely vague in their pronouncements.

Besides General Tang Seng-chi (and, possibly, other military leaders) who may be said to dislike Chang Kai-shek, there must be a number of politicians who wish to see more of his power vested in the supreme council.
Instances have not been wanting to prove that what Chang Kai-shek dictates is generally accepted by the civilian members of the Nationalist Government.
Working With Borodin.
The labour chiefs are hand in glove with Borodin. Whichever side gives them the most licence—be it Chang's party, Tang Seng-chi and his clique, or the politicians proper—they are bound to support for the time being.
Thus we have not two defined factions, but a number of groups whose interests conflict but who, professedly for the sake of the Kuomintang, have subordinated everything for the common weal.
Another explanation of there having been no internal strife in the Nationalist camp is that the strongest contender (Chang Kai-shek) will not risk his immense popularity with the masses or, conversely, his rivals dare not offend him.
Until He is Defeated.
That Chang Kai-shek is very strong-willed there is not the slightest doubt. That he still has the means to put his orders into operation is also apparent. He wields the big stick. All the others who count either agree with him or make it their business to seem to do so. Chang Kai-shek did not wait in the past for possible critics to act first. He brought pressure to bear and many a famous member of the Kuomintang—whether Moderate or Radical—is now still keeping out of his way.
Until Chang Kai-shek is defeated in battle, he will remain the soldier of the hour. As such he will have little need to fear trouble from internal strife.

BISHOP'S ADVICE.

DR. INGRAM ON AUSTRALIAN IMMIGRATION.

"WELCOME NEW CHUMS."

The Bishop of London (Dr. Winnington Ingram), addressing a meeting at Townville said:—"Australia needs good Australians, but she will never fill Australia with good Australians unless the new and the old countries go hand in hand."

The Church of England, he added, had interested itself in emigration, because it was felt that lack of interest was due to lack of method, and to lack of welcome at the Australian end. The Church had put it services at the disposal of the Government, and had undertaken to send out none but people of good character, and only those perfectly fitted for a new life.

"Keep Politics Out."
He appealed to Australians to take more interest in welcoming immigrants. There had been too much party politics mixed up with immigration, and he believed the appointment of the Migration Commission was the first step towards lifting immigration out of the playground of party politics. He was not asking them to bring out men who could not work but those able and willing to work.

SHIPPING SECTION.

NAVAL LINGUISTS.

FEW BRITISH OFFICERS AS INTERPRETERS.

THE ADMIRALTY'S FAULT?

The trouble in China has shown up the weakness of the Royal Navy in the matter of interpreters. All too often the trouble has been that the Admiralty has seen no reason to grant facilities for learning Chinese. Officers are encouraged to become interpreters, but the encouragement is rather half-hearted.

Lack of languages, even those of the countries with whom the Navy comes into closest contact, is no bar to promotion, and the extra pay to be obtained is not sufficient to make a man wildly enthusiastic, observes the "China Express and Telegraph."

Japanese the Best.

Perhaps the French Navy is the only one that is worse off than the British in the matter of interpreters.

The old Russian Navy always had plenty of excellent linguists, and now it is in the Japanese ships that one finds most qualified interpreters. The Japanese officer who cannot speak English is something of a rarity.

NEW RULES.

THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES.

PROPOSED SHIPPING DECREE.

It will be recalled that some time ago the Government of the Netherlands East Indies submitted to the People's Council the draft of an ordinance the purpose of which is to improve the supervision of shipping in local waters and to introduce regulations governing the minimum displacement of ocean-going vessels. The reason for the introduction of the new ordinance being that the supervision exercised at present is restricted to the terms of the steam ordinance received by the Department of Overseas Trade, this ordinance was discussed in council last month, and the following details regarding the same are obtained from the divisional report of proceedings in council and from the official note in reply:-

Following on its announcement in the "Official Gazette" the new shipping ordinance will replace the steam ordinance in all far as the latter applies to local shipping. The ordinance gives in the index a legal definition of names and terms con-

15 NEW SHIPS.

When Gunboats Will Be Ready For China.

Fifteen new warships for the Royal Navy are due to be completed this year, including the battleships "Neison" and "Rodney."

The list also includes the four new river gunboats for China, of which the "Petrel" is to be finished in June, the "Tern" in July, the "Gannet" in August, and the "Seamew" in September.

tained therein, and indicates the class of vessels to which the terms of the ordinance will and will not apply. The supervision of shipping in local waters will be carried out by officials of the shipping department of local harbour boards under the direction of the chief inspector. It is competent of the Governor-General to grant exemption from any one or more regulations of the new ordinance, either wholly, partially, or under definite conditions. The necessary documents relating to the ordinance are, in general, exempt from stamp duty in order to effect an uninterrupted course of business.

Master's Obligations.

Art. 6 embodies the obligations of the skipper or captain, according to the principle of the Dutch (Holland) shipping law, those cases in which complete acquiescence in the regulations will not necessarily be demanded being taken into consideration. The seaworthiness of a ship must, in virtue of Art. 7 of the ordinance, be vouched for by a certificate. Every ship that puts out of port must be provided with such a certificate issued by or on behalf of the chief inspector. Ships which are classed by a recognized firm of shipping inspectors (surveyors) will not require a new certificate as long as the ship maintains its class. For ships which are not classed, a new certificate will be required each year. A charge will be made for same by the Government according to a fixed tariff. Unlike the Steam Ordinance, the new shipping ordinance (Art. 8) mentions special cases where, in the interests of public safety, the captain is obliged to report any damages sustained by the ship. Art. 9 of the ordinance contains the regulations governing the question of draught and displacement of ships, such as the fitting up of draught scales, the possession of a certificate of minimum displacement marks (Plimsoll's mark). For this certificate too a charge will be made according to a fixed tariff. The equipment of a ship leaving port or on the high seas comprises tools, spare parts, life-saving apparatus, provisions, drinking water, medicines, fuel, etc.

Passenger Vessels.

In contra-distinction to the regulations in Holland, a special certificate is required in the Netherlands Indies in the case of passenger vessels. Here again a charge will be made for this certificate, which is, however, not compulsory in the case of vessels of 100 cubic metres or more gross capacity, carrying a maximum of 12 passengers, or of a local ship (i.e., with its home port in the archipelago) carrying more than 12 passengers and from ports on inter-insular or foreign routes. It will be decided later by decree of the Governor-General what requirements the ship's staff and crew will have to meet in the matter of their efficiency (Art. 12). Art. 13 treats on measures of safety which are considered necessary and reasonable in regard to the equipping, loading and manning of a ship. Art. 14 regards the relation to the private examining bureaux (vide Art. 7), while Art. 15 contains regulations regarding supervision, etc. This ordinance does not affect the pilgrim ordinance (Mecca) or the emigration ordinance (Surabaya).

OBITUARY.

AUTHORITY ON MARITIME LAW.

Mr. Edward Louis de Hart, who died recently in the Temple at the age of 88, possessed an acute intellect and a thorough grasp of legal principles. But a retiring disposition and a reluctance to make himself known even in perfectly legitimate ways prevented him, in spite of constant industry, from achieving the success which he deserved. His father, who was of Dutch descent, was Mr. Jacques de Hart, a merchant and shipowner of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

He was born on May 29, 1858, and went up to Christ's College, Cambridge, where he was placed in the first class in the Law Tripos of 1880 and obtained a Whewell University scholarship for international law in 1882. He was called by the Inner Temple in 1883, and went the North-Eastern Circuit. In legal circles his name was chiefly known as an editor of high-class text books such as Arnold on "Marine Insurance," Smith's "Mercantile Law," Maclellan on "Merchant Shipping," and Lowndes on "General Average."

He was also a Revising Barrister and set occasionally as a Deputy County Judge. His intimate friends knew him as a man of great personal charm and of many accomplishments, and respected his scruples in matters which he deemed to be of principle, although they sometimes thought he carried punctiliousness to an extreme. He leaves a widow, but no children.

SHIPOWNEERS.

Some interesting views on the prospects of the shipping industry are published in the special annual number of "The Compendium."

Mr. Walter Runciman, M.P., president of the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, expresses the opinion that the immediate prospects of shipping are not so dark as they were 12 months ago. "We shall," he writes, "probably witness a good deal of unseasonable activity this winter and spring. Shipments delayed during the last year are now coming forward pretty soon. There are large quantities of grain in the Antipodes (probably 3,000,000 tons in Australia) which have to be moved. South America has also been productive, and these two continents will compete for ships. How long this will last no one can tell, but in itself it will not be enough to substantiate the prophecies of prosperity. Combined, however, with other reproductive forces, it can possibly give the trade of the world a new start. Even allowing for the superabundant tonnage on every register, we could count on prosperity were everything favourable. Yet, with anything worse than the best in every country, we shall once more find that there are too many ships for the stuff to be carried."

"A Moderate Revival"
Mr. Theodore E. Selveston, president of the Baltic and White Sea Conference, expresses the belief that a moderate revival may be anticipated in the industry. He says: "The resumption of work in the coal mines was followed not unnaturally, by something in the nature of a general collapse in the freight market. This was only to be expected, and greater interest is provided by speculation regarding the trend of the freight market once the distribution of tonnage has resumed normal conditions. For the past six years the pessimists have like Cassandra enjoyed the doubtful satisfaction of seeing the fulfilment of their doleful prophecies, but it appears that there do exist, at last, certain grounds for anticipating a moderate revival in the shipping industry."

"In hazarding this opinion, far from founding on the recent spurt, which should properly be regarded as artificial and entirely attributable to economic dislocation, I rely rather on the prospect of a period of political and industrial peace, resulting in a steady increase in world trade and the volume of seaborne traffic. Before the coal stoppage, signs of improvement could be discerned, and, although this country has suffered colossal losses in consequence, it has, previously given proofs of its amazing power of recovery. The political lessons of the general strike fiasco have not been lost on our friends abroad, and even the coal strike has assisted in educating labour as to the folly of ignoring the economic law."

FIRES AT SEA.

AVERAGE EXCEEDED LAST YEAR.

The report of the Committee of the Liverpool Underwriters' Association, submitted at the annual meeting of members, recalls that last year, owing to the general and coal strikes, was full of anxieties for all classes of traders. They proceed: "Although these strikes have ceased, it must be realised that their effect will be felt for many months in the delay of the production of materials wanted so urgently to allow such trades as shipbuilding to go ahead. Marine insurance has, of course, suffered through reduction of business owing to the above causes. The Committee, however, are glad to report that the effect of the various efforts to restore the business generally to a sounder basis is more hopeful. During the year, as a result of negotiations between British underwriters and those of the markets concerned, arrangements have been made which should bring about an improvement in French, Italian, and Norwegian hull risks. These arrangements, based on the principle of the British market, supporting the rates and values fixed by the underwriters at the place of origin, will, it is hoped, enable the local underwriters to place their hull business on a sounder basis. Conferences have also been held with the object of improving Dutch hull conditions. The Committee are pleased to report that Liverpool marine insurance companies have supported these efforts both at home and abroad."

The Committee write that the subject of fires in ships continues to cause grave concern to underwriters and all interested in ships at sea. They continue: "The number of fires which have occurred during the year exceed the average of 536 for the past five years. According to the Association's records, 585 fires have occurred, of which 172 took place in bunkers and 413 in cargoes, &c. The Committee are in correspondence with the Mercantile Marine Department of the Board of Trade regarding the matter, and during the year the question of the spontaneous combustion of certain cargoes has been referred to the Department of Industrial and Scientific Research; the causes of spontaneous combustion of coal in ships are being investigated by the Fuel Research Board. The regulations relating to the carriage of dangerous goods on board ship, and those relating to the fire-extinguishing appliances in passenger ships have been revised, and consideration is being given by the Board to the question of fire-extinguishing appliances to be provided in cargo ships. These important services of the Board of Marine Department of the Board of Trade are gratefully acknowledged by the Committee, and it is hoped that the cumulative effect thereof will lead to the much-desired diminution in the number of fires at sea."

Statistics compiled by the Association show that four vessels were totally lost during the year in the St. Lawrence and approaches, and that there were 34 strandings. In 1925 there were two total losses and 38 strandings, and in 1924 one total loss and 24 strandings occurred.

Small-pox: 71 cases at Bombay, 208 at Calcutta, 32 at Madras, 43 at Rangoon, 1 at Vizagapatnam, 10 at Bangkok, 2 at Shanghai.

S.S. "PAUL LECAT"

The Hong Kong Office of the Messageries Maritimes informed "The China Mail" yesterday afternoon that news has been received from Shanghai to the effect that there are good reasons for believing that the s.s. "Paul Lecat" (which grounded near Woosung) will leave Hong Kong for Marseilles and ports on March 29 as previously advertised.

DREAM YACHT.

$5,000 A YEAR FOR THE CREW'S
WAGES.

The $50,000 luxury yacht "Crusader," which has been built in Southampton for Mr. A. K. Macomber, the American millionaire racehorse owner, is almost ready for her official trials. Three hundred workmen have been busily putting finishing touches to her, and every minute she becomes more like the miniature palace she is intended to be.

I have spent an envious day exploring her. "Crusader" is a dream craft, says a "Daily Express" correspondent. Beauty of design, workmanship, and material are allied to every kind of modern convenience to make her as nearly perfect as possible. She is not intended for racing but is to be a floating home. She is a nest of unexpected cabins and state-rooms, each one more daintily decorated than the one before, and hidden contrivances for comfort and pleasure. You turn a corner, go below decks, and come upon a dining-room like a well-appointed room in some modern house, paneled in dove grey, which oxydized silver fittings and tiled fireplaces. Mahogany buffers and side-board reflect the soft lighting.

173 Feet Long.
The yacht, of 547 tons, is 173 feet long from stem to stern, and every inch of space has been utilised to give home-like living conditions for guests and her crew of twenty-one.

Mr. Macomber's own stateroom is a spacious apartment furnished in the prevailing mahogany. A full-size bed is to be placed in the centre of the room. The bathroom is tucked cunningly away, in one corner.

An electrical refrigerator has been installed to provide iced drinks direct to the dining-room. If the tropical sun so orders, Miles of hidden wiring to all parts of the vessel and a multi-valve broadcast set bring concerts from all over the world by the turn of a switch and the insertion of a plug.

You may cruise a six thousand knots without touching port if fancy dictates at a speed of thirteen knots on the two 400-horse-power Diesel engines. Some idea of the cost of running "Crusader" can be gathered from the fact that the wages bill for officers and crew will be more than $5,000 a year.

A SATURDAY CAUSERIE.

At the time of the Kiukiang riots the British consular and naval authorities obtained little or no support from the Chinese military and others nominally in power who disclaimed responsibility for acts of mob violence. A similar instance of this "powerlessness" which is open to the interpretation of deliberate connivance was recorded in the naval wireless message from Wuhu which stated that when the Cues-tons buildings were looted and foreign lives endangered "the Chinese authorities gave but lukewarm assistance." It has been repeatedly affirmed on behalf of the Nationalists that they neither encourage nor incite mob violence as an aid to furthering their policy and that the instances which have occurred have been due to factors outside their control. Kiukiang, until the visit of Mr. O'Malley, and the entering into of negotiations for a settlement of outstanding problems, had given more cause for worry on the score of the safety of foreigners than any other Yangtze port, owing to open disturbances and the under-current of feeling which was fanned by agitators. But as soon as it was announced that the representative of H.B.M. Minister at Peking was on his way, the onslaught of all concerned became exemplary, and all overt and covert evidence of anti-foreign feeling became conspicuous by its absence. An agreement was reached, and it is pleasing to note from yesterday's naval wireless news that "the Chinese authorities at Kiukiang are exercising their authority to prevent disturbances and to resume friendly relations, the situation being practically normal." The authorities, then, have suddenly acquired powers which it was claimed were not theirs before to keep under subversive elements. With the assurances of local authorities that they are neither responsible nor able to curb it, mob violence has been in evidence in other Yangtze ports this week, and if the example of Kiukiang is any criterion, such disturbances will continue until a harassed Minister has been rushed from place to place patching up purely local agreements without having been given time for the drafting of a comprehensive policy which will assure permanent friendly relations and the greater welfare of the whole. It has always been the keynote of British policy to meet the genuine aspirations of the Chinese people wherever they are clearly defined by a competent body, and will not conflict with the prime duty of protection of our nationals. But the Nationalists are rendering the task of our diplomatic representatives far more difficult by using the mob in attempts to bring pressure to bear in the hearing of claims which would command greater sympathy if they were advocated through more constitutional channels.

In answering Labour M.P.'s whose party, perhaps more than any other, has betrayed considerable ignorance as to the status of British Concessions, Settlements and Treaty Ports in China, the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs contented himself with the brief statement that the Shanghai International Settlement was not established by treaty but by certain Land Regulations which the Chinese Government subsequently recognised as valid. It would perhaps have been more satisfactory had he given a short resume of the chief events leading to the foundation and administration of Shanghai.
The first legal basis for a foreign settlement there appeared in the Treaty of Nanking (1842) when the city was among the four ports in addition to Canton opened to trade. Three years later an agreement was entered into between the British Consul and the Shanghai Taotai in which the boundaries of a British settlement were defined, these boundaries being extended by agreement at later dates. From the first the settlement was open to all foreigners. The French also demanded a settlement in Shanghai, and in 1849 the boundaries of this were fixed, with extensions later.

The American Settlement (1848) grew alongside the Hongkew side of Soochow creek, but never was organised and the boundaries were undefined until the settlement was included with the British Settlement in what is now termed the International Settlement. During the Taiping Rebellion, it was found impossible to limit the settlements to foreigners as thousands of Chinese flocked in for protection, and in Land Regulations drafted later, provision was made governing renting and purchase of land by Chinese. A strong attempt later to establish one foreign settlement in Shanghai under one municipal system did not materialise owing to the strong opposition of the French.
It should be emphasised that there is no treaty between the several foreign governments which grants to either or any of them jurisdiction of any kind over the citizens of another power, nor is there any authority vested in the Chinese government to grant such jurisdiction.

NEW VICARIATE.

Rev. Fr. J. E. Walsh Made a Bishop.

THE KONGMOON AREA.

Reuters' cable, published yesterday, announcing that His Holiness the Pope has raised the Prefecture Apostolic of Kongmoon to a Vicariate and the elevation of Rev. Father James Edward Walsh
as Vicar Apostolic gives indication of the growth of the Roman Catholic faith in China generally and South China in particular.

Until as recently as 1924 Kong-moon was in the Vicariate of Bishop
A. Fourquet of the Societe des Missions Etrangeres de Paris, Vicar Apostolic of Canton. In that year
Kongmoon was created a Prefecture Apostolic and was turned over to the newly arrived members of the Maryknoll Mission (Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America).
They ministered the Prefecture
under Father Walsh as Prefect Apostolic, but the district still remained under the Vicariate of Bishop Fourquet. The elevation of the district to a Vicariate, which was decided upon in Rome some two weeks ago, marks the separation of Kongmoon and Canton into two distinct Bishoprics, the one under the American Mission and the other under the French Mission.

The elevation of Father Walsh to Vicar Apostolic of course raises him to the rank of a Bishop, and after his consecration, which it is understood will take place about the end of May, his title will be Monsignor J. E. Walsh, Vicar Apostolic of Kongmoon.

It is not yet known whether Father Walsh will be consecrated locally or in Rome.

In connection with the growth of the Roman Catholic Church in China it is of interest to note here that in the 20 years from 1908 to 1923 the number of Chinese Catholics increased from 783,000 to 2,208,800. Some details of the number of converts in the various provinces in China are as under:

China 645,000
Kiangsu 202,000
Shantung 171,000
Szechuen 156,000
Mongolia 125,000
Kwangtung 106,000

The number of Catholic Bishops at present in China is 64 including the six Chinese Bishops recently consecrated in Rome and Bishop-elect Mgr. Walsh. Of this number seven are located in Kwangtung,
one in a Diocese and six in Vicariates as follows:

Diocese of Macao:—Mgr. J. da
Costa-Nunes, Bishop.
Vic. Ap. of Canton:—Mgr. A.
Fourquet, Vicar Apostolic.
Vic. Ap. of Shui-chow:—Mgr. L.
Versiglia, V.A.

Vic. Ap. of Swatow:—Mgr. A.
Rayasse, V.A.
Vic. Ap. of Hong Kong:—Mgr. H.
Valtorta, V.A.

Vic. Ap. of Pakhoi:—Mgr. A.
Gauthier, V.A.
Vic. Ap. of Kongmoon:—Mgr.
J. E. Walsh, V.A.

Monsignors Fourquet, Rayasse and Gauthier belong to the Societe des Missions Etrangeres de Paris, Mgr. Valtorta to the Foreign Mission Society of Milan, Mgr.
Versiglia to the Salesian Mission, and Mgr. Walsh to the Maryknoll Mission of America.

TRADE MARKS.

INFRINGEMENT OF FILES
COPYRIGHT.

Major Willson yesterday afternoon heard a case in which the
Him Lee Co. and the Ching Shing
Co. were summoned for infringing
the trade mark of the Nicolson File Co. The summons was taken out at the instance of Mr. E. Manning of John D. Hutchison and Co.,
whose case was conducted by Mr.
G. S. Hugh Jones. Mr. H. J. Armstrong represented the defendant firms.

A Chinese broker from Messrs.
Hutchison said that it was about three months ago that he first discovered that German files were being sold on the market. They did not have any particular brand, simply going under the designation of "German make."

The files handled by Hutchison's were of American origin and were the only ones on the market bearing the "Cross-file" trade mark. Recently some files had appeared bearing an infringement of the American trade mark.

Mr. Armstrong contended that his clients had no reason to suspect that the files complained of, which they received from Borneman and Co., were in any way infringing
the marks of the Nicolson File Co.

They had previously bought "globe" mark files from the same German Company. The lot complained of was a repeat order and bore the additional "Cross-file" mark. They could not understand why the German manufacturers should add this mark to the original "globe"
mark.

A fine of $50 was imposed on each of the defendant firms, and the files removed from the two shops were ordered to be confiscated.

STRAITS GOVERNOR.

POSSIBLE CHANGE IN THE OFFICE.

GOSSIP IN MALAYA.

Sir Laurence Guillemard's extended term of office as Governor of the Straits Settlements and High Commissioner of the F.M.S. is drawing to a close, and there is some interesting speculation, not only as regards his successor, but as to whether any change in the position itself is in contemplation.

At various times hints have been made that the Governor of the Straits Settlements might in future be a Governor-General, with authority over other territory, such for example, as that of British North Borneo.

Two Separate Offices.

There has also been the suggestion that with the growth in importance and wealth of the Federated States, the role of High Commissioner of the F.M.S. should be separated from the Governorship, and that this post should be filled by an official entirely unconnected with the affairs of the Colony.

Such a scheme opens up interesting possibilities. If opinions expressed in Malaya have any weight in the Colonial Office, presuming the higher office to be on the same lines as hitherto, a Governor who has had previous experience of the country would be welcomed.

Former G.O.C.

At one time it was said that the return of Major-General Sir Neill Malcolm, the former General Officer Commanding, would be popular. But Sir Neill, who was then en route to Borneo, has other important interests, which make it doubtful whether he would consider such an offer.

Another name is that of Sir Frederick James, who was Colonial Secretary from 1916 to 1924, when he was appointed Governor of the Windward Islands. Sir Frederick is a man of vigorous personality and strong opinions, who was a successful administrator even if he did not please everybody at one period of his service. As Sir Frederick is fifty-six years of age, he would not be considered too old to return to Malaya for a few years in the supreme position.

FACTORY INCIDENT.

DISMANTLING OF BISCUIT
MACHINE.

TWO MEN FINED $50 EACH.

The case of alleged damaging of a biscuit making machinery at the M.Y. San Company's factory was resumed before Mr. R. E. Lindsell yesterday afternoon.

This time Mr. Leo d'Almada appeared for the first accused, originally represented by Mr. Strellett.

The factory manager was recalled at Mr. d'Almada's request and in reply to counsel said he could not say who was actually responsible for dismantling the machine.

The foreman who was yesterday discharged was put in the witness box. He said the machine had not been in use since October last, but when the factory closed for the Chinese New Year holidays on January 29 it was in perfect order.

Witness did not know when the machine was dismantled. He first noticed it was not in working order after the holidays.

His Worship found there was no evidence against Mr. d'Almada's client and discharged him.

The other two men, who admitted that they had dismantled the machine were convicted and fined $50 each or in default four weeks' jail.

HONG KONG'S FUTURE.

Aerial And Railway Transport.

GOVERNOR'S REFERENCE.

Replying as Honorary President to the toast of his health at the annual dinner of the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders yesterday, H.E. the Governor spoke of the part that engineers and shipbuilders had played in the history of China and referred to the possibilities of the future, including aerial and railway transport prospects. He referred to the construction of an aerodrome locally and to "the day when residents of this Colony will take through tickets from Kowloon to Calais—and return tickets at that."

The dinner was held at the Institution premises which had been most effectively laid out for the purpose.

There were about one hundred present, the principal guests including His Excellency the Governor, Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G., who was accompanied by Capt. Steele, A.D.C., and Mr. A. Whyte, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern Colonial Secretary, and the Hon. Mr. H. T. Cressy, both of whom are Honorary Vice-Presidents of the Institution. Rear-Admiral W. H. D. Rayle, C.B., R.N., Commander J. F. Pearson, C.M.G., R.N., the Hon. Mr. H. W. Bird, Lieut.-Col. L. G. Bird, D.S.O., Lieut.-Col. S. Boylan Smith, Eng., Capt. W. N. Mitchell, R.N., Eng., Comm. G. H. Young, Mr. Cameron MacGregor (Glen Line) and Mr. D. Templeton.

Others present were Mr. J. Ormiston (President), Mr. L. J. Blackburn (Vice-President and chairman of the committee), Mr. R. M. Byer, Mr. K. E. Greig, Mr. S. Baker and Mr. W. Russell (past presidents), Mr. R. Hunter (Vice-chairman of the committee), Mr. W. J. Stokes, Mr. J. M. Jack, Mr. W. J. Hill, Mr. W. S. Bailey, Mr. A. Landsberg (Secretary) and many others.

"Institution" Activities. In giving the toast of "Our Honorary President," Mr. Ormiston referred to the Institution's extension and said that in spite of difficulties the estimated loss for the first year of change had not been exceeded. Owing to the diversion of ships to other trades where commerce was not beset with so many difficulties and the unemployed amongst their ranks, the non-contributory and absent members formed rather a large number. An unemployed member still retained the privileges of the Institution without having to pay the subscription.

In spite of these and other handicaps the Institution had maintained its charitable bequests and by lectures had endeavoured to the best of its ability to improve the scientific knowledge of members, to further engineering and shipbuilding science and by entertainments and dances in their premises to encourage social intercourse between members and their lady friends.

In conclusion, Mr. Ormiston asked for greater administrative support from younger members whose response was disappointing to requests for names of members willing to stand for election on the General Committee.

Governor's Reply. Responding to the toast H.E. the Governor said:—"I thank you for the words in which you have proposed the toast of my health and, gentlemen, I thank you all for the way in which you have received the toast. It is, I feel, a great privilege to be Honorary President of an Institution the members of which have in a very literal sense built up this Colony, and it is a great pleasure to me to attend the first annual dinner given by you in your own premises, where we can feel thoroughly at home."

On the occasion of your annual dinner last year I spoke of what engineers had done for Hong Kong. To-night I should like to indicate very briefly what engineers have done, and have it in their power to do, for China. First of all consider lines of communication. The vast foreign trade of China results from the work of engineers. The total value of that trade to China as shown in the statistics of the Chinese Maritime Customs for 1924 was 1,790 million taels. Almost all this trade is borne in ships, designed, built, worked, decked and kept in repair by engineers. Steam navigation of China's inland water ways is another achievement of engineers, and especially on the upper Yangtze the pioneers surmounted not only difficulties but serious dangers. Railway engineering in China dates from 1876 and is therefore a year younger than I am. It has made great progress, but its future is bound to be greater still; and the day is sure to come when residents in this Colony will take through railway tickets from Kowloon to Calais and return tickets at that.

The Engineer In China.

Road construction in the European sense of the word has scarcely begun; but now that engineers have invented and are steadily perfecting the motor-car, and seeing what a hold motor transport already has upon the Chinese mind, the pressure of Chinese public opinion is likely before long to compel provincial authorities to build motor-roads. When this movement begins, an immense stimulus will be given to the motor industry and rubber and petrol will be even more in demand. Indeed I venture to prophesy that, when China is really opened up for motor traffic, a new design of motor car will become imperative, for the world's supply of petrol will not suffice and cars will have to be propelled by some other motor-spirit.

Air transport in China, save for purposes of civil war, hardly yet exists; but it is bound to come and we are already at work on an aerodrome for this Colony. The idea of travelling from Hong Kong to Canton in an hour is sure to make a strong appeal to business men; and once air ways are established the flight from Hong Kong to the majority of the great cities of China will only be a matter of one or at most two days' journey.

Civil Engineering. Another enormous field for beneficial activity in China, scarcely touched at present, is sanitary engineering in which I would include water works, sewage works, anti-malarial work, slum improvement, town planning and the like. Then again electric lighting is much desired by Chinese of all classes and, so far as I know, hydro-electric engineering has not yet made a start anywhere in China. There are also telegraphy, telephony, wireless broadcasting and other electrical inventions of which the exploitation in China has only just begun, but the demand for which is likely to be prodigious.

It would be easy to continue for a long time in this strain, but I have said enough to show what an immense demand there is certain to be in China for engineers as soon as War Lords turn their attention from military to civil engineering. We in Hong Kong can do much to supply this demand by training Chinese students in British engineering standards and ideals at the Hong Kong University.

The generosity of the great firm of Butterfield & Swire has endowed the Taikee Chair of Engineering at that University; but it is for all British engineers and all British Engineering firms in this Colony and above all it is for the Hong Kong Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders to collaborate in making the Engineering Faculty of the Hong Kong University the signal success which it ought to be.

Engineering and University. I earnestly invite you each and all to take a real interest in that Faculty. I do this not only as Chancellor of the University, but even more as Governor of Hong Kong, because I feel that there is a unique opportunity before this Colony of becoming intimately associated with future engineering developments all over China through the medium of young Chinese engineers, who will have been trained in Hong Kong and then go into all the Eighteen Provinces of China taking with them an affection for their "alma mater" and a real comprehension of the thoroughness and the high ideals of British engineering as well as of the genuine friendship for our Chinese neighbours with which we in this Colony are animated.

Gentlemen, I wish your Institution all success and an ever increasing membership as the years go by. I trust that every engineer stationed in Hong Kong will, as a matter of course, join up and do what he can to promote the welfare of the Institution. And I hope that your sphere of activities may steadily expand to the benefit not only of this Colony but of China as well.

The Visitors. Mr. L. J. Blackburn proposed the toast of the "Visitors" and referred to many of the honoured guests by name. He referred to the fact that the Institution had a large and valued number of associate members and emphasised that the Committee welcomed a large influx of both ordinary and associate members.

Replying for the guests, the Hon. Mr. H. W. Bird emphasised how much passengers, crew and officers on ship owed to the marine engineer and referred to the need for fostering deeper interest in engineering.

Rear-Admiral Boyle, speaking as a sailor, said they owed a debt to the shipbuilders and engineers who provided them with houses to live in and with the means of going round the world. He recalled how he was rushed out to China in 1895. Looking back on those days and on the long and weary voyage, he realised what a debt they owed the shipbuilders and engineers. On his last trip out to China he arrived in Hong

MURDER ATTEMPT.

YOUNG MAN SENT TO JAIL.

DRAMA IN COURT.

London, Feb. 20. There was an intensely dramatic scene at the Nottingham Assizes when a sentence of penal servitude for life was passed on Edgar William Smith, aged twenty-nine, who was charged with attempting to murder Policeman Dainty and shooting him with a revolver in the course of a struggle, when Dainty endeavoured to stop him while he was driving his car to Newark.

Accused reeled when the Judge pronounced the penalty and there was a gasp of astonishment in the Court.

Then Smith pleaded for mercy on account of his wife. He said "It is a terrible sentence."

"Yes, it is a terrible sentence," agreed the Judge, "but you did a terrible thing. It is only by the mercy of God that you are not charged with murder."

The Judge then called in Dainty in the presence of Smith and warmly praised his bravery.

Smith, during his defence, said that after the struggle at Newark, in London, he was trying to think out the situation for two hours and then went to attend the afternoon service at St. Paul's.

CRIPPLE WALKS.

STRIKING CURE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

A striking example of what can be done, even for advanced cases of infantile paralysis, was demonstrated recently at the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital, Great Portland Street, W. (says a medical writer in the London "Morning Post").

A Mr. James Haylor, 32 years of age, contracted infantile paralysis when 14 years old. He was entirely unable to use his legs or even to stand on his feet. He was admitted to the hospital in June of last year, and is now able to walk up-right and push another patient about in a chair.

The case was shown recently, not as illustrating any new form of treatment, but as exemplifying the results that can be obtained by the methods which have been practised for many years by orthopaedic surgeons. Proper splinting in the early stages of the disease is regarded as being of supreme importance, because in a large proportion of cases, complete recovery is possible by proper splinting alone.

The disease still remains as much of a mystery as ever, the belief being that it is due to a germ which has not yet been isolated. It passes through three stages—the acute, the convalescent, and the chronic. In the acute stage the muscles are tender; and some of them may be paralysed, and it is important that no deformities should be allowed to arise during this period.

In the second stage, if recovery has not been effected by the end of two years, further improvement is unlikely, and the case becomes chronic.

Even at this stage, however, much can be done to help the patient, as, for instance, by the correction of deformities, and the hospital contains records of many cases, such as that shown recently, where patients unable to walk as a result of the disease have been enabled to walk after operative treatment.

The hospital treats 80,000 out-patients a year, 25 per cent. of which are the results of this disease.

Kong 16 days after leaving Malta. The war, he continued, proved a great test for the marine engineers and for the whole of the seafaring services of the British Empire, both Naval and Mercantile, and there had been no adverse criticism of marine engineers in this respect.

Mr. J. S. Gillingham caused considerable amusement by the reading of bogus "cables" from famous men who were "prevented from attending the dinner."

During the evening an excellent musical programme was given by Messrs. A. E. Stone, T. G. Paterson, R. M. Keown, and L. E. Hopkins. Messrs. G. Grimble and H. A. Jones were the accompanists.

The catering for the dinner was done by Messrs. Lane, Crawford, Ltd.

"CO-OPERATION."

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY ADDRESS.

THE WEEKLY MEETING.

Mr. J. Russell gave an address on "Co-operation," at Thursday's (weekly) public meeting of the Hong Kong Lodge, the Theosophical Society. An extract of his remarks follows:—

"It is up to all of us to strive to make things better by right thinking and co-operation, by trying to understand the causes which threaten the world to-day and to help each in our own little way to bring us all nearer to a solution which will make peace instead of warfare on earth."

"Right thinking must precede right believing and both must be followed before right conduct can be found. To arrive at right thinking, without which there can be no happiness, no peace, we must assist each other in the realisation of the unity of all mankind, however separate and conflicting our interests may appear to us here in the illusory world of forms, by a strong desire that brotherly love and peace may prevail."

"The Way to Peace. If each of us would co-operate with one another as cells in the one body of humanity, by daily and hourly thinking of the unity and eternal friendliness of the one divine life animating us all, and strengthening in one another the determination to overcome the enmity of the warring, selfish minds, the arch-enemy of the divine man in us, then surely the power of our inherent divinity will unfold and in expanding show us the way to peace."

"Every thought and desire carrying a message of love and unselfishness to humanity at large helps the labouring divinity to withhold and to reign in the erring voice of the human mind; and it is only in proportion as we co-operate, with one another to help in holding the mind in check as our instrument, not our master, that the light of our Divinity will light our way and show us the Will of the Universal Self, that wisdom that mightily and sweetly ordereth all things."

Converting Enemies. "A great Teacher once said: 'Hatred ceaseth not by hatred, hatred ceaseth only by Love; and so evil ceaseth not by fire and destruction, but only by lovingly and wisely substituting the noble, the selfless, the good.'"

"People who happen to look upon the outside of things do not believe in the sermon of peace and goodwill towards all men. In the mighty power of trust in the goodwill of others, of selfless and brotherly co-operation."

"Like always arouses like, as a light in the darkness cannot fall to beget, so unselfish love and a true co-operation in thought and deed cannot but disarm and convert enemies into friends."

"Those who know the spirit of the Theosophical movement are aware that it is pre-eminently practical, based on the sacred unity of all mankind, and serving not parts but the whole of humanity, for there is no lasting well-being of one part of humanity to the detriment of another."

The Steps to Christ. "The Theosophical tendencies now permeating all lines of thought have infused a new spirit of world-wide unity, of world-wide love and friendship which alone can lead us to peace, prosperity and lasting greatness. These are the steps to the Christ whom men profess. Let them follow Him."

"Never since the world began has the claim that 'men should brothers be and form one family throughout the world' seemed such a stupendous irony as now, and yet never has the hope seemed nearer realisation."

"We see all the world over man's thought, the divine gift, desecrated, by turning organisations, the most wonderful inventions and masses of human beings to the preparations to kill and to destroy in wholesale ways."

"Many there are who make a stand against such an insane state of affairs, for always there has been a band of thinking people but their voice is ridiculed and held up to scoff."

Solution to Deadlocks. "When will the nations of humanity cease to war and kill in the name of the Lord of Love, who Himself is for all and against none? Learn to trust, learn to co-operate with one another, in all good beginnings, learn to support the divine nature, to appeal to that in all men, so shall you prepare for peace and abundance of life will return to all."

"The practice of the Spirit of Universal Brotherhood, for the good not of a part, but of all humanity will alone provide a satisfactory solution of the deadlocks the world is in to-day."

"The application of the principles of Co-operation based on man's essential unity with all men and all nations of the earth will change us from the wish to outpace others to the wish to carry others along."

At Locarno. "It will teach us the spirit of 'each do all and all to each' and thus change the narrow class and national outlook of the nations into the higher outlook for the good of all human beings, for the safety and prosperity of all members of the family of nations of the earth."

"What finer words could acclaim the new international ideal than those of Dr. Stresemann at the signing of the Locarno Treaty: 'If we go under, we go under together. If we would seek to rise, we cannot do so in conflict with each other, but only by working together.'"

"We cannot afford if we believe in the future of our Civilisation, to live in discord and enmity, but must join hands in a work of world-wide co-operation. Only thus will it be possible to lay the foundations for a future free from strife and rivalry in national, cultural and economical development."

The assistants are dressed as furniture removalists and wear green baize aprons. They carry the settee through the hotel during business hours and nobody knows that it contains a dead body.

Gen. Li Pao-chang, Defence Commissioner of Shanghai and Woonung, has issued another warning forbidding people to spread rumours detrimental to the Allied cause through the post, lest these rumours may endanger the peace and order of the city. Any offender, Gen. Li affirms, will be severely dealt with, according to strict martial law. However, it would appear that this warning, like several others, remarks the "North China Daily News," has been honoured by most people more in the breach than in the observance.

In view of the arrival of the Coldstream Guards in Shanghai, Chinese journalists are reported to have been at some pains to get a good translation for the name of the regiment. One interesting effort is reported, this working out as "Cold Water Soldiers," which is possibly not incorrect as a literal translation of the words when the name of the village of Coldstream is split up. The idea conveyed, remarks a Shanghai paper, is naturally that such troops will be eminently suitable for operations in this part of the country with its endless succession of creeks, containing very cold water at the present season.

Now acting as unofficial propagandist in London for the Cantonese Nationalist Government, Mr. R. F. O. Bridgeman, a former member of the British Diplomatic Service, received a set-back in his home village of Finner on Feb. 5. He aspired to become a member of the Hanton Rural District Council, but in a triangular contest was at the bottom of the poll.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL NEWS.

Mr. J. Barrow has been appointed a Cadet in the Hong Kong Civil Service.

A Hong Kong resident in Mr. J. E. Joseph, who has been staying at the Hotel Cecil in London, is due back here very shortly.

Captain Teijiro Toyoda, D.S.O., Japanese Naval Attaché in London, is to leave for Japan on March 23. He will be succeeded at the Embassy by Captain Koichi Shiozawa, D.S.O., who reached England at the end of February.

General Sir Charles Harington the famous British general, recently promoted.

Three well-known postal clerks and telegraphists attached to the Kingston Post Office have been detailed for postal services in China in connection with the Shanghai Defence. Each served during the Great War, Mr. P. C. Mosely as Company Sergeant-Major, Mr. A. Charles as Sergeant, and Mr. A. W. Murley as Sapper, all in the Postal Section of the Royal Engineers.

Radium valued at $1,600 which disappeared from the operating theatre at Charing Cross Hospital last week, was recovered on a heap of refuse at Harrow, Middlesex.

A special parade of the No. 4 Platoon (Portuguese Section) of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps was held yesterday at the Club de Recreo ground in King's Park.

Mr. R. E. Lindsell yesterday fined a Chinese woman $50 or four weeks' imprisonment for failing to report a case of small-pox. Defendant admitted she knew the child was suffering from small-pox but she did not know it was necessary to report.

The ship's Company of H.M.S. "Danse" held a successful dance in the Helena May Institute on Thursday evening, this being the first public function of the ship's Company and auguring well for the success of further ones contemplated.

Fairly extensive observations were held in Hong Kong today for the second anniversary of the death of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, especially among the Chinese working classes. Formal rites were gone through by nearly all of the labour unions, but in very simple form, and without much of the trumpet blowing associated with similar ceremonies elsewhere. A number of guilds have declared a holiday at the request of employees. It was noticeable in the streets that the Nationalist flag (white "sun," blue "sky" and red ground) was even more extensively displayed than during China New Year when there was still a preponderance of the five-barred "Republic" banner.

The "Sunday Chronicle's" quest for a white husband for the daughter of an Ellice Island chieftain has resulted in the receipt of numerous letters from eager suitors for the dark-skinned lady's hand. One comes from an ex-army officer, who confesses that he "is absolutely fed up with white girls," but is careful to add, "My passage must be paid." Another says he is willing to marry the girl if he becomes the chieftain's heir. Mr. Jack McLaren, who was first responsible for putting this queer matrimonial proposition before the public, states that he had an audience with the chief before leaving Ellice Island, and learned that his daughter was sixteen years of age, an excellent swimmer, and owns a house and coconut plantation.

The appointment of Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Herbert John Chapman Goodwin to be Governor of Queensland, in succession to Sir Matthew Nathan, has been officially confirmed.

Mr. F. G. Carroll, acting assistant sub-manager of the Hong Kong & Shanghai Banking Corporation (head office, Hong Kong), is going to Bangkok temporarily to act as agent there.

"An actor's life is not all oysters and champagne," Mr. Seymour Hicks told the "Daily News." "Six hours' sleep and 18 hours' work are my lot. 'Recently I wore a pedometer on the stage, and I found that I walked four miles daily, besides saying 20,000 words.'"

The forthcoming wedding is announced of Captain Patrick Carson Perfect (the cricketer of the 2nd Batt., King's Own Scottish Borderers now in Hong Kong) to Miss Helen Ann Hogg, of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Gen. Li Pao-chang, the Defence Commissioner, in reply to a letter of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, consented to release Mr. Francis Zia, managing-editor of the "China Courier," and the "China Tribune" on security for three months, to enable him to receive medical treatment. After this period, Gen. Li says, Mr. Zia must be taken into custody again.

Shanghai papers record the death of Mr. Gordon Stuart Valentine Bidwell at the Sisters of Mercy Hospital in London on Sunday last. The deceased had been ill for months and was confined to the house most of the time until about a month ago, when doctors ordered him to the hospital, which he never left. The late Mr. Bidwell left Shanghai in May, 1926, on home leave and it was soon on arrival there that he became too ill to be out. Mr. Bidwell, who was a Shanghai boy, "Gordon," more commonly called by a host of friends and business associates, was chief cashier of the Russo-Asiatic Bank, having been with them for 28 years, until its liquidation. His chief interests were volunteer fire brigade work, both in the Settlement and the French Concession.

E. C. FINCHER DEFEATS
M. K. LO.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Evidence that he was improved since last year was forthcoming when E. C. Fincher played yesterday in the Hong Kong Cricket Club annual tennis tournament, defeating M. K. Lo in straight sets in the first round of the open singles championship of the Colony.

M. K. Lo who, rather unexpectedly, lost to E. C. Fincher yesterday in the open singles tennis championship.

Fincher served and hit harder and his cuts and chops had to be difficult. The lower half of his knowledge of the game and his experience stood him in good stead. Fincher concentrated on Lo's backhand and played fast tennis. Through having a lot of running to do, Lo finished very tired.

Yew Man-tsun appeared in the second round and showed a strong forehand drive, which he did not have before.

Honda (singles champion in 1926 and 1924) easily won his match in the doubles. Yesterday's results—

Open Singles.

First Round:—E. C. Fincher beat M. K. Lo, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3; J. Casambhoy beat T. Sajiki, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4; C. C. Stark walk-over from F. T. Orr.

Second Round:—Yew Man-tsun beat T. D. E. Pendered, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2; R. M. Henderson beat C. Choo, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Open Doubles.

T. Honda and H. Akiyama beat Dr. J. Craig and W. L. B. Sparrow, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Club Championship.

F. A. Redmond beat R. K. Valentine, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0.

Handicap Singles "B."

P. E. Barker (rec. 4/6) beat H. C. Macnamara (rec. 15/3), 6-4, 6-7.

YACHT CLUB.

DETAILS OF SAILING EVENTS.

CRUISERS TO TRY AGAIN.

[By "Chau-Kung."]

The Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club v. Ladies event which was postponed last Sunday on account of the boisterous weather is now provisionally arranged for Sunday, March 20. At the next meeting I believe the contest is to be for teams of boats; the ladies have been reduced in numbers, but not in enthusiasm, by departures on home leave. They will probably be strengthened by the return of Mrs. J. L. Adams from leave.

The re-sail of the 1st race for Cruisers which should have taken place on Sunday, February 20, is now down for sailing on Sunday next. I believe the starters are to be asked to sail the race without

DRAUGHTS MATCH.

British Tourists Defeated in America.

New York, March 11.

An American draughts team defeated the visiting British team, which included five British champions. The Americans won 92 games to 20, and 560 games were drawn. —Reuter's American Service.

time limit. The sailing committee are anticipating that in sheer carelessness the pixies, when they learn of this condition, will send "lashings" of wind. The Championship is still open, with "U. and I." 38 points leading "Coquette" by 3 and "La Cigale" by 6 points. "Feathers" and "Norseman" are tied for 4th place with 26 points.

The Services members have laid down very sporting conditions for their handsome prizes. All classes are to compete together on sealed handicaps which are to be fixed on the day of the race as is the course. The winning boat of each class will receive a prize. The Services members are placing their boats at the disposal of those civilian members or their wives, who do not themselves own boats. A most keenly contested race is expected.

BRITISH LADIES.

TENNIS TOUR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

TWO MORE VICTORIES.

East London, Feb. 12. The British ladies' lawn tennis team met a Border team. Mrs. Watson (Great Britain) beat Mrs. Brokensha, 6-1, 6-2. Mrs. Watson and Miss Dix (Great Britain) beat Mrs. Klette and Mrs. Pike, 6-0, 6-5. Mrs. MacJannett beat Miss Saunders (Great Britain) 6-4, 6-3. Mrs. McIlquham and Miss Harvey (Great Britain) beat Mrs. MacJannett and Mrs. Duplessis, 6-3, 6-4. Miss Saunders and Miss Fry (Great Britain) beat Mrs. Stocks and Mrs. Newman, 6-1, 6-4. The British team won by four matches to one.

Victory Complete.

Queenstown, Feb. 16. The British ladies' lawn tennis team played a return match against a Border team.

Miss Fry (Great Britain) beat Mrs. MacJannett, 1-6, 6-2, 7-5. Miss Harvey (Great Britain) beat Miss Burns, 6-1, 6-1.

Miss Harvey and Mrs. Watson (Great Britain) beat Mrs. Drysdale and Mrs. Shearer, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Fry and Miss Saunders (Great Britain) beat Mrs. MacJannett and Miss Duplessis, 6-0, 7-5, 6-4.

The British team, who in the earlier encounter won four out of five matches, won all their matches on this occasion.

INTERNATIONAL SOCCER "CAPS."

London, Feb. 16.

The following team has been chosen to represent Scotland in the "soccer" international against Ireland at Belfast on February 26:—Harkness (Queen's Park); Hutton (Blackburn); W. McStey (Captain); (Celtic); Mulhead (Rangers); Gibson (Preston); McMillan (Manchester City); Jackson (Huddersfield); Cunningham (Rangers); Gallacher (Newcastle); Howleson (St. Mirren); Morton (Rangers).

The following will represent the Hong Kong Hockey Club 1st XI against 5th/2nd Punjab on Wednesday at 5 p.m. sharp on the U.S.R.C. ground:—S. H. Garrod; Major Croker, R.A.M.C.; D. Lyon; A. A. Dando; E. J. R. Mitchell (captain); Major J. P. S. Grieg, R.E.; G. B. Slipper, W. Woodward, Capt. Walker, R.A.M.C.; Dr. L. Sim, G. P. Lammett.

CLASH AVOIDED.

DATES FOR BRITISH & U.S. CHAMPIONSHIPS.

AUTHORITIES OF GOLF.

The difficulty that had arisen owing to the fact that the date of the American Open Golf Championship had been fixed for the same week as that selected for the British event was dispelled, by an official announcement from the Championship Committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews.

The statement was as follows:—The Championship Committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, realising that the unfortunate clashing of the dates of the open championship and the American open championship of 1927 will have prevented players from competing in both events, has been in communication with the United States Golf Association on the subject and is pleased to announce that a rearrangement of dates has been made. The open championship will be played at St. Andrews in the week commencing July 11, and the American open championship will be played at Oakmont (Allegheny County) in the week commencing June 13.

Departure From Custom. Both events had originally been fixed for the week beginning June 20, the American event having been arranged at an earlier time than usual owing to the more suitable climatic conditions.

The position has been made easier, and the dignity of the ruling body in each country maintained, by the arrangement announced, for the American event has been fixed for an earlier date and the British championship for a later period.

Though the action of the Championship Committee represents a departure from custom, it may not be without its benefits to British golf, for some of the big tournaments which it has been the custom to hold after the "Open" will now probably be arranged to take place before the big event, so that our leading players will have obtained plenty of competition practice before the Open Championship is decided.

EMPIRE SHOOTING.

HOW THE HONOURS WERE SHARED.

DIVISION OF TROPHIES.

London, Feb. 12.

The results of the Empire shooting in connection with the Imperial Shields competitions for 1926 show that nearly 28,000 boys competed for the King's Trophy, which was won by South Africa with an average of 79 points out of a possible 100.

Canada was second with 78 points, Australia third with 71 points, and Great Britain fourth with 70.5.

Canada won 92 silver and bronze medals for individual high scores of 97 points and over. Australia won 89 for high scores of 97 and over, South Africa 22, Great Britain 12, India 6 and New Zealand 3.

The Senior Imperial Challenge Shield for the best senior school in the Empire was won by the Australian Naval Reserve, Edgcliffe, New South Wales, with an average of 96.4 points.

King's Letter to N.R.A. Admiral Jellicoe's sword, for the best small senior school in the Empire, was won by the Australian Naval Reserve, Fremantle, while the Junior Imperial Challenge Shield for the best junior school in the Empire was won by the Lawrence Military School for Cadets, Sannawar, India.

The King has sent a letter to the National Rifle Association expressing much satisfaction with the result of the competition for His Majesty's Trophy. His Majesty considers that the excellent scores throughout the Empire reflect the greatest credit on the boys and their instructors.

G.K.C. ON SUSSEX.

"LITTLE KINGDOMS OF ENGLAND."

At the annual dinner of the Men of Sussex at the Cannon Street Hotel, under the chairmanship of Sir William Bull, M.P., Mr. G. K. Chesterton, responding to the toast of "Our Guests," spoke of his early days when as a child he was hurried as happily as possible through the beauties of Sussex and "chucked out" at Brighton—"that hideous and vulgar suburb." He was then subjected to a torture known as "sight-seeing." He suggested that a system be organised whereby carefully selected persons be thrown out of the train at various points between Victoria and Brighton so that they might be brought to understand the real beauty of Sussex. With Sussex as with other counties, we ought to foster and help the "local glory of the little kingdoms of England."

The President, responding to the toast of "The County and Men of Sussex," proposed by the Right Hon. James F. Hope, suggested, in connection with a proposed publicity scheme, that members of Parliament and of county and other councils should be invited to join with societies interested in Sussex, and that a scheme should be thoroughly thought out before any money beyond a nominal amount was asked for.

The health of the president was submitted by Mr. C. E. Groom.

Socialism is a relic of the Victorian age.—Mr. Walter Leaf.

H.M.'S. FORCES.

Latest Naval & Military Movements.

"YARMOUTH" COMING OUT.

H.M.S. "Yarmouth," Captain W. N. Custance, is coming out (and due shortly) with relief crews for ships on the station. The "Yarmouth," which was attached to the Signal School, Portsmouth, was to have completed repairs on Feb. 15, and is ready to leave about Feb. 15. Among those who will take passage in her is Commander V. B. Ward, lately commanding the "Rosa," with the Portsmouth Submarine Flotilla, who is going out to join the cruiser "Vindictive," in which Commander C. A. Merriam has completed two years.

Gunboat Commanders, Lieutenant-Commanders C. St. C. Ingham and A. L. Poland, D.S.C., selected to command the gunboats "Moorhen" and "Robin" respectively, will also take passage in the "Yarmouth."

It is reported that H.M.S. "Moorhen" is in command on Feb. 4 (succeeding Lt. Comdr. A. B. Fanshawe). The "Moorhen" is attached to the West River Flotilla.

The "Aphis" and "Ladybird," coming from Malta, will be employed on the Yangtze River, under H.M.S. "Ree," flagship of Rear-Admiral J. E. Cameron (S.N.O.).

"Hawkins" Captain promoted. Latest Naval appointments include:—

Captain L. W. Braithwaite, D.S.O., D.S.C. (of H.M.S. "Hawkins," in command), Flag Captain and chief of staff to Vice-Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt (commander-in-chief, China Station), to be Commodore 2nd Class as from Feb. 1.

This brings the China Command into line with those in the Mediterranean and Atlantic, in which the chiefs of staff are granted the rank of commodore. The responsibility of the C.O.S. in China are naturally much increased owing to the present situation, says the "China Express & Telegraph."

Pay Comdr. L. R. Barker to H.M.S. "Tamar" on April 10. Pay Lt. A. L. Craig-Jefferys and Pay Sub-Lt. G. F. Franklin to H.M.S. "Hawkins," for duty in the Admiral's office (on relief), additional temporary.

Naval Transport Officer.

Captain F. H. Elderton, Royal Indian Marine, whose appointment as temporary Commander, R.N., was gazetted last month, is to carry out the duties of Principal Naval Transport Officer at Shanghai.

Captain Elderton, now 62, has many associations with China. During the Boxer troubles of 1900 he was twice mentioned in despatches for service as Principal Transport Officer, and was appointed a member of the D.S.O. In the late war he was Divisional Naval Transport Officer at Rouen and at Dover, and was made a C.M.G. He married the eldest daughter of Mr. A. M. Eckford of Chelsea, China.

680 Men Due Shortly. Twenty-four officers, Royal Artillerymen, and members of the Army Service Corps, to the number of 680, embarked on the Blue Funnel liner "Bellerophon" at Liverpool on Feb. 5 for China and are due here this week end.

In addition there were on board about four hundred horses and mules and a number of heavy motor wagons and stores.

The remaining half of the 6th Armoured Car Company, Royal Tank Corps, left Scarborough by special train shortly after midnight on Feb. 5 for Liverpool, to embark for China.

NEW PROMOTIONS AND APPOINTMENTS.

The Governor has made the following promotions and appointments in the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps:—
Second Lieutenant Kenneth Sinclair Morrison to be Lieutenant, with effect from March 8, 1927.

Second Lieutenant John Norrie Owen to be Lieutenant, with effect from March 8, 1927.

Second Lieutenant Arthur Harry Penn to be Lieutenant, with effect from March 8, 1927.

Second Lieutenant Reginald Robert Davies, M.C., M.M., to be Lieutenant, with effect from March 8, 1927.

Lance-Sergeant Stanley Jarvis, M.C., to be Second Lieutenant, with effect from March 11, 1927.

The Colony had a clean bill of health yesterday.

OPIUM TRAFFIC.

A REQUEST BY THE CHINESE DELEGATE.

Geneva, March 11. The Council of the League of Nations has adopted the report on the opium traffic.

Mr. Chao Hsin-chu (China) requested the advisory committee to accept the figures of the Chinese Maritime Customs in preference to those supplied by the International Anti-Opium Association of Peking.

He declared that the figures would be communicated through a Chinese representative to the League.

Colonel McCormack, Adviser to the Persian Ministry of Finance, presented a report purporting to show that prohibition of the cultivation of poppies in Persia would not materially affect the use of narcotics in the West, and that the curtailment of manufacture is more important than restriction of cultivation.—Reuter.

Persia's Policy. Mr. McCormack added that Persia agreed after three years to reduce opium production ten per cent. a year for three years and thereafter to decide on a policy in accordance with the general situation.

The Government in order to facilitate reduction would exempt from taxation lands where the poppy was cultivated and would grant special loans to the assist proprietors in abandoning cultivation.

The Council decided to place the cultivation of the poppy in Persia on the agenda of the next Assembly of the League and to convene a conference at Geneva in November to draw up an international convention abolishing the import and export prohibitions and restrictions.—Reuter.

BRITISH CINEMAS.

BILL TO REGULATE FILM SUPPLY.

London, March 11.

The Government's cinematograph films Bill, passed the first reading in the House of Commons on March 10. The text has already been published. The Bill relates to so-called "feature films," or to films depicting stories and dramas. The Bill requires all such films to be registered at the Board of Trade and restricts so-called blind booking and advance booking.

The Bill imposes an obligation on renters to acquire a minimum length of British films as compared with the total length of films handled. The quota is fixed at 7½ per cent. for 1928, increasing 2½ per cent. a year until it reaches 25 per cent. Exhibitors are under a similar obligation except that their quota does not become operative before 1929.—Reuter.

A WITNESS IN TROUBLE.

The Chinese charged with theft of a flannel shirt from the engineers' cabin on board H.M.S. "Hollyhook" at the Naval Yard was again in Court this morning.

The witness called by the accused at first said, accused was scraping the floor with him in the cabin, but later said accused was working above.

After he had been warned by the Magistrate that he would go to jail for perjury if he insisted in contradicting himself, the witness admitted he did not know anything about the accused's work on the ship.

Accused was fined $10 or two weeks' jail.

MORE DOG BITES.

A mongrel dog belonging to Mr. E. S. C. Brooks of No. 9, Queen's Gardens was taken to Kennedy Town quarantine yesterday after biting a Chinese man employed by Mr. More, who occupies No. 7, Queen's Gardens.

A Chinese man of Nga-tai village East near Kowloon City, has been admitted to the Kowloon Hospital as the result of being bitten by a dog. It was deemed that medical treatment would be necessary and the dog is under observation at Kennedy Town.

The Chief Justice has ordered that the next Criminal Sessions shall be held on Monday March 21.

TRESPASSING.

CHINESE IN AN EMPTY ROOM.

A Chinese was this morning charged before Major Willson with trespassing at No. 3 Peak Road.

The No. 1 Boy of the house said he found accused in an empty room. When questioned, accused said he was engaged by an old lady to carry something. As witness was taking accused outside to hand to a police constable he broke loose and ran along Robinson Road into the Glenalee where two schoolboys helped witness hold accused until an Indian constable came along and took him in charge.

The Magistrate gave a remand until to-morrow for the police to make enquiries with a view to trying to locate the old lady accused spoke about.

VACCINATION.

WORK BY THE AMBULANCE BRIGADE.

The Y.M.C.A. division of St. John Ambulance Brigade vaccinated 4,500 Chinese persons last week. By special request the work was continued this week and up to yesterday another 2,265 persons had been treated.

At present there is a great demand for the services of members of the Brigade and, in consequence, the campaign will be developed on a much larger scale next week. It is intended to open about twenty stations in Hong Kong and Kowloon on which all divisions of the Brigade will be engaged. Chinese are asking for vaccination in very large numbers.

STREET CHASE.

JAIL AND BIRCH FOR STREET SNATCHER.

While Miss Grace de Roza and her father were walking in Caine Road at 5 p.m., yesterday a Chinese youth bumped into the lady and snatched a gold chain with a heart-shaped pendant. Miss Roza chased the thief who was eventually stopped by a European Sanitary Inspector. A search revealed the ornamental in the accused's pocket.

The Magistrate convicted, and a previous conviction having been recorded, ordered accused to go to jail for three months and to receive twelve strokes of the birch.

FORGED BANK NOTES.

A Chinese was charged before Major Willson this morning with the possession of two forged $10 notes of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, and with attempting to pass one of them at a Gage Street stall.

Mr. F. E. Nash, who appeared for the defence, asked for a remand. As a bank assistant was present in Court the Magistrate proposed to take evidence of falsification first.

Mr. Nash replied that he was prepared to admit that the notes were forged.

A remand was given until 11.30 on Tuesday morning, bail being allowed in the sum of $500.

AGGRESSIVE CHAUFFEURS.

Two Chinese chauffeurs, one employed by Capt. Bagram, were charged before Mr. E. Lindsohl with fighting in Wanchai yesterday.

Mr. M. W. Lo, who appeared for one of the men, asked that both be bound over for a long period as this was not the first time the men had engaged in such affairs. The Magistrate bound them over in the sum of $100 each to keep the peace for twelve months, remarking that they would go to jail if caught fighting again.

The name of Mr. Mah Sau-shan, 249, Queen's Road Central, has been added to the Colony's register of medical practitioners entitled to practise medicine. Mr. Mah Sau-shan's qualification is given as follows:—A graduate of the Aichi Medical College, Japan (1921).

Mr. B. W. Bradbury of the Dairy Farm, Ice & Cold Storage Co., accompanied by Mrs. and Miss V. Bradbury sailed to-day on the "Kaituma" bound for Home. Mr. Bradbury is President of the Craigiepower Cricket Club and has just relinquished the Presidency of the Lawn Tennis Association.
